MANY GOLFERS GUESTS OF BELMONT SPRING CLUB

WAVERLEY, Sept 23-The Belmont Spring Country Club dedicated its new locker building this afternoon. The members, who number 400, were given permission to invite guests to attend the celebration, and it was estimated that upwards of 600 were present. Francis Ouimet, ex-National open and Amateur golf champion, was there and played an exhibition game, turning in a card of 76. As the Brookline golfer has not played as much golf as usual, his performance was regarded as an excellent one. There was a medal handicap which mound up in a tie for the low gross prize between L. H Canan and C. W. Bass. In the Burgess Cup competition, epen only to members, W. G. Garritt Jr inade the low net score, winning the first leg on that trophy. To secure 1 ossession he must win the cup three times. A gold medal was his reward today.

Speaks in Democratic Strongholds of City With Judge Riley

Opening at Brighton and finishing at the nomination for Governor.

Encouraged by a reception which was particularly warm in South Boston, where he was born, Gen Cole confidently predicted his nomination next Tuesday and his election in November.

"The people realize that only through a Democratic administration can real progressive legislation be carried through." Gen Cole said, "and the record of the Republicans in blocking every measure of auvancement during the past year has been sufficient to retire the party to obscurity for many years to come in this State."

The General referred frequently to the indorsement given him by Democratic leaders throughout Massachusetts, but said that these were only a few of the many leveling Democrats urging his nomination. For Governor.

"Tully 80 percent of those names which have appeared in the newspapers as my indorsers," he said, "are not connected in any way with the Democratic State or city organizations. If I was not absolutely convinced that my nomination is desired by the rank and file of the party is should reture from the race."

Referring to his work as Fire Commissioner, Gen Cole said that it was a South Boston man who was his "right tower and general conditions of work of the party is should reture from the race."

Wants Military Governor

After a busy day campaigning in the State, Frederick W. Mansfield, candidate for the Damocratic nomination for Governor; spoke at a series of rollies in Boston last night.

Reginning at Dedham sq. Dedham, at o'clock, he moved in rapid succession to Cleary sq. Hyde Park; Dorchester av and Mt Vernon st: Blue Hill av and Dove st; Dearborn sq. Brookline st and Harrison av, and arrived at Shawmut av and Dover st at 9 o'clock. Here Mr Mansfield found the largest crowd of the evening.

"The people are to select a candidate," Mr Mansfield said, "because of what he has done, and the logical candidate is the one who has done something for the Democratic party and the people generally. That brings the situation down to a sound basis, and you are to be the judges of who is the stronto be the judges of who is the atrongest man.

"In 20 years I have worked with all the ability and energy in me for the people. In State conventions I have worked on committees and campalgned year after year for Democratic success. In behalf of the people it has been my privilege to draft and secure many laws for the benefit of the laboring people. My opponent has been a member of the party for $5 years, he says, but in that a years what has he done for the party or for the people with the exception of holding appointive offices?"

In Hayward pl. in the shopping district, Mr Mansfield emphasized his military record.

"If the State needs a military man for Governor," Mr Mansheld said, "why not an Army man who has served in the Spanish War? I don't' say the State needs a military man as Governor, but if the people want one why not elect one who has seen real service in a war, as I have."

In a succession of rapid meetings at Cross and Richmond sts, Sudbury, Court and Hanover sts, Cambridge and 3d sts, East Cambridge and Market and Washington sts, Brighton, Mr Mansheld told of his experience in the State treasurer's office and reviewed his labor record. It was late when the tour ended at the corner of Massachusetts and Huntington avs.

The Mansheld party was preceded by an automobile in which were a number of labor leaders, who spoke until Mr Mansfield was introduced by Francis J. Murray.

MANY TOUR DORCHESTER

Candidates Limited to 10-Minute

Speeches at Fields Corner to Give Everyone a Chance Candidates for political office in Dorchester concluded a week's activities ast night with a tour of the wards. There are 15 candidates seeking the Democratic nominations for Representaive and almost that number on the Republian end, though the latter have held no open-air rallies. Five candidates for the Senate have also been At Fields Corner, one of the favorite campaigning grounds, it was a merry campaigning grounds, it was a merry scramble for a place and because of the crowd and long line of automobiles, a schedule of 10-minute speecies was adopted. Fatrolman "Jim" Curtis had a busy time keeping the aspirants in line. The contest for Senator between Charles Lawlor, John A. Anderson, John J. Cummings, William Teehan and James J. Byrne is attracting much attention and leaders are at present unable to pick a winner.

All the principal corners were crowded between 8 and 10 o'clock. Tomorrow night the candidates will make a whirlwind tour of the district to get a last word to the voters.
